HIV PHILANTHROPY FOR TRANSGENDER COMMUNITIES

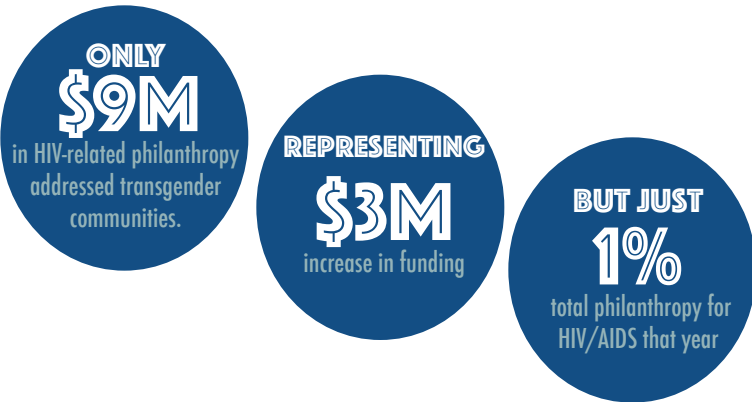

FCAA's annual resource tracking project, Philanthropic Support to Address HIV/AIDS in 2014, offered a first-ever grants-level view of the field of HIV/AIDS-related philanthropy. In collaboration with Funders for LGBTQ Issues, it also included an increased focus on HIV funding for LGBTQ communities. The following data offers an important new benchmark: the first analysis of HIV-related philanthropy for transgender communities. We hope it captures the beginning of sustained and impactful funding to address the needs of transgender people at risk for and living with HIV.

THE NEED

A myriad of social and economic disparities, as well as stigma and discrimination for being transgender, greatly heightens risk behavior for transgender women.<sup>1</sup> In addition to a shortage of specific programs, transgender communities often face significant barriers to HIV prevention services, including stigma, violence, poverty, unstable housing, substance abuse and mental health issues.
